IAEM announces details of 2007 Annual Scientific Meeting and AGM

The 2007 Irish Association for Emergency Medicine Annual Conference will take place at the Nuremore Hotel, Carrickmacross, Co. Monaghan on 19th and 20th October 2007. The local organisers have today released a draft programme (link) and accommodation arrangements for the meeting (link).

Those who wish to present an Academic paper or poster should note that an Abstract form is available here (link). Completed Abstract forms must be returned electronically as per the instructions on the form no later than 17.00 hrs on Friday 14th September 2007.

The IAEM AGM will take place on Saturday 20th October 2007.

The Association looks forward to another very successful meeting in the Northeast following on from recent annual meetings in Sligo (2006), Cork (2005) and Galway (2004). In addition to the academic programme and the AGM the meeting will afford ample opportunity for socialising and networking.
